

ABSTRACT

Aspects for dynamically changing attributes in an embedded-SQL application are described. In these aspects, an option is provided within a standard SQL statement for specifying one or more attributes of at least a declared cursor. The standard SQL statement is then processed to include the specified one or more attributes in at least the declared cursor.

5 The provision occurs with an ATTRIBUTES option and within a PREPARE SQL statement.

09044939.083101
TOP SECRET 66644660